The Sherman Act, Interstate Commerce, and Baseball

Palm Beach, FL - The Flagler Museum's 31st annual Whitehall Lecture Series presents The Sherman Act, Interstate Commerce, and Baseball on Sunday, March 6th at 3:00 p.m. Tickets are free for Museum Members at the Sustaining level and above, $10 for Individual, Family, and Life Members, and $28 for non-members, and includes Museum admission.

Nathaniel Grow, Professor at University of Georgia, and author of Baseball on Trial: The Origin of Baseball's Antitrust Exemption will present the lecture.

In 1922 the United States Supreme Court ruled unanimously that only one industry in American would be unaffected by the antitrust laws of the time. In an opinion authored by Chief Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, baseball was given an exemption from the antitrust laws of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, despite the fact that the business of baseball seemed to fit the very definition of Interstate Commerce. Author and professor Nathaniel Grow will examine Anti-Trust legislation the Baseball Ruling within the context of the time.

The Whitehall Lecture Series is sponsored by PNC Bank, the Max and Victoria Dreyfus Foundation, the Cultural Council of Palm Beach County, the Tourist Development Council, the Board of County Commissioners of Palm Beach County, and the State of Florida, Department of State, Division of Cultural Affairs.

About The Flagler Museum

When it was completed in 1902, Whitehall, Henry Flagler's Gilded Age estate in Palm Beach, was hailed by the New York Herald as "more wonderful than any palace in Europe, grander and more magnificent than any other private dwelling in the world." Today, Whitehall is a National Historic Landmark and is open to the public as the Flagler Museum, featuring guided tours, changing exhibits, and special programs. The Museum is located at One Whitehall Way, Palm Beach. The Museum is open from 10:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and noon until 5:00 p.m., Sunday. Admission is $18 for adults, $10 for youth ages 13-17, $3 for children ages 6-12, and children under six are free. For more information visit www.flaglermuseum.us or call (561) 655-2833.
